

Storytelling From a Personal Point of View: For Students

Instructions for Teachers:

Below is a worksheet to be given to students to complete during a lesson utilizing the method of Storytelling. Students should fill in the details of the categories that you can determine based on the content or story you are learning.

After the chart, there are questions for reflection and to summarize the information. Students can answer them individually or in groups.

You can have students complete the entire page individually or in groups. They can then share their work in order to start a class discussion.

The tool can be used as an evaluation tool for teachers.

Storytelling From a Personal Point of View

As you are learning in class, fill in the details of the chart based on the criteria that are listed:

Character

Name/Description

A Unique Action of the Character

Comment

Location

Name/Description

A Unique Action of the Character

Comment

Object

Name/Description

A Unique Action of the Character

Comment

Storytelling From a Personal Point of View

And now share your opinion...

Create a title for the story:

Write an alternate ending for your story and explain why you chose this ending.

Create a question to ask one of the characters from the story.